We will also have an invited Keynote Speaker, Barbara Yong, to address the topic of pay equity and AAUW's recent research "Behind the Pay Gap". Her biography appears below:

Barbara Yong has been a practicing attorney for nearly 25 years. She practices in the areas of bankruptcy and commercial litigation. She is a partner at the Chicago law firm of Golan & Christie LLP. She graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Illinois at Urbana – Champaign and attended Loyola University School of Law.

Barb is very active in several women's organizations, including Business and Professional Women of Illinois (BPW/IL), of which she is the current State President. She is also a founding member of the Illinois Wage Hub which coordinates the activities of the WAGE Project in Illinois. She is also a trustee of the BPW/USA political action committee (BPW/PAC). She was also instrumental in forming the BPW Illinois Educational Foundation and served for five years as its first President.

Barb is also involved in several civic and community organizations. From 1987 to 1995, Barb served two terms as Commissioner of the Park District of LaGrange, and served as Board President for four of those years. She is also the current President of Park PALS, a newly formed fundraising Foundation established by the Park District of LaGrange, an active member of IWIRC – an organization of women professionals in bankruptcy and restructuring, a member of the Parent Advisory Committee to School District 102, and Vice President of Administration of her synagogue, West Suburban Temple Har Zion, just to name a few.

Barb grew up on the southwest side of Chicago, near Midway Airport. She currently lives in LaGrange, a western suburb of Chicago, with her husband Jim, who is also an attorney, and their 3 children, Jenny (20), Stephanie (17) and Jamie (12), her in-laws, Seck Wah and Toy Yong, and their cocker spaniel, Oreo.
